

Support for refugee and asylum seekers

Portsmouth

Do you know someone who needs help?

The British Red Cross offers practical help in accessing essential services, signposting to legal advice and other specialist organisations, and crisis support for those who are destitute.

How we can help

Making a new start can be daunting. The British Red Cross aims to help refugees, asylum seekers and vulnerable migrants adapt to life in the UK by familiarising them with the local area and helping them access essential services. Our volunteer caseworkers can provide:

- > information and practical support to access essential health, welfare, education, legal and other services
- > information about local social, faith and community groups
- > emergency food, clothing and other items for those who are destitute
- > signposting to other specialist organisations
- > referrals to other Red Cross services like International Family Tracing
- > training to become a volunteer.

This is a completely free, confidential and impartial service.

Please help by passing this on to anyone who may need assistance, or other interested organisations or groups.

How to find us:

British Red Cross, Refugee Support, 338 Commercial Road,
Portsmouth, PO1 4BT (drop-in's every Monday & Thursday 10am -1pm).

02392 894215 PortsmouthReferrals@redcross.org.uk

www.redcross.org.uk

The British Red Cross helps people in crisis, wherever and whenever they are. We are part of a global voluntary network, responding to conflicts, natural disasters and individual emergencies.

The power of kindness

